CWPP Member Beverly Halquist passed away on August 9th. Born Beverly Rich in 1939 in South Dakota, she was raised in Illinois with her sisters. She was married for 25 years to Albin "Bud" Halquist Jr. who died of cancer in 1985. She raised her three boys in Wisconsin and in 1985 made Scottsdale her full-time home. She was a founding member and longtime supporter of Creative Women of Pinnacle Peak and a volunteer at Pappas School. Her interests included ballroom dancing and competition, traveling, and winning at Mahjong. She chose raising and showing Arabian horses as her passion later in life and built the Lazy B Ranch. Her horses have been exported around the world and have won numerous national championships. She bravely battled cancer and spent her final days on her beloved ranch with family, friends and horses nearby.
